Farmer members are welcome to be involved with CAFF's programs. A representative from the membership department will contact you about your interest in participating in Farm to School, Harvest of the Month, farm tours, field days, and other CAFF programs.

Your annual contribution supports the projects and efforts of CAFF:

- Policy/Advocacy: addresses pressing issues including food safety, land use, water, direct marketing, climate change, and healthy school food on a local, state, and national level
- Biological Agriculture: works directly with farmers to implement environmentally-sound management practices
- Farm to School: Combines fun education programs with access to fresh, healthy food to create a successful model that transforms students from passive consumers to informed eaters who make good nutrition and stewardship choices through food. By connecting schools to farms in the classroom, on the farm, and in the cafeteria, we provide fresh, healthy, and tasty food for students while also increasing farmer income.
- Buy Fresh Buy Local (BFBL) Campaigns: Connects producers and consumers by publishing regional editions of the Eater's Guide to Local Food, providing marketing assistance and materials to businesses and farmers, and running public education and awareness campaigns to promote local food.
- Farmer Technical Assistance: CAFF enables farmers to be more economically viable through providing on the farm technical assistance in food safety, marketing, and sales tools.
