

Community Alliance with Family Farmers

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION • INDIVIDUAL

CAFF is California's longest-standing advocate for sustainable agriculture. We connect family farmers and eaters working to create a better food system. Through policy advocacy, innovative market development, and technical support in the field, we are providing solutions to the environmental, economic, and health issues facing our communities. Our continued success depends on the support of members like you.

Your annual contribution supports the projects and efforts of CAFF:

Biological Agriculture pursues innovative soil and pest management initiatives, promoting sustainable and profitable practices that protect the community, the environment and the livelihood of the family farmer.

Our Farm to School Initiative develops and coordinates on-the-ground programs that bring local food to classrooms and connect students to their local farming communities, while also working on policies that help further the Farm to School movement in California.

Local Food Systems reconnects communities with the farmers who grow their food. The program reaches hundreds of thousands of California eaters each year through its Buy Fresh Buy Local educational and marketing materials, including the regional editions of "Eater's Guide to Local Food."

The Policy program reinforces the work of our three on-the-ground programs by advocating for the rights of the family farmer to farm sustainably and profitably. Through our legislative work we address pressing issues including food safety, land use, water quality and healthy school food.
